

REJECT FIXED CORN SUPPORT

—LOCKED IN UNOCCUPIED BUILDING—

Missing Little Girls Found Safe, Hungry

Alexandria, Va. (AP)—Two bewildered and hungry little girls were found locked in the bathroom of a vacant apartment Tuesday after a wide-spread 48-hour search. They were unharmed.

They said they had locked themselves in while at play Sunday afternoon and waited patiently for rescue while an intensive search went on all around them and spread throughout the metropolitan Washington, D.C. area.

Participating in the hunt, which grew grimmer by the hour, were hundreds of policemen, firemen, soldiers, marines, civilians and, finally, FBI agents.

Not A Clue

Not a clue was found until two FBI men, backtracking over the whole area, came upon a jammed bathroom door in an unoccupied apartment less than a block from the missing girls' homes.

Inside they found Rita Ohlgren and Maria Teresa Morley, both 7 and both hungry. Neither had eaten since Sunday noon, although there was plenty of water to drink.

Flabbergasted, agents U. Leroy Sweeney and Lansing P. (Pete) Logan demanded: "Are you the little girls we're looking for?"

Methodical Checks

Sweeney and Logan were members of a 50-man FBI team that had been making a methodical check, building by building and door by door, throughout the night. The FBI entered the case 24 hours after the girls were reported missing, on the theory they had been kidnapped.

Restored to their parents, Rita and Teresa called for peanut butter sandwiches and told their story in the monosyllables characteristic of 7-year-olds.

They said they had made use of the bathroom on previous occasions, knowing the apartment was vacant and finding it more convenient than running home.

Pulled Shut

Sunday, however, one of the girls pulled the door shut and they were trapped by a defective lock.

"They tried to call out but it didn't help any," the FBI men said.

The girls said they slept Sunday and Monday nights curled up in the bathtub.

Second Floor

The bathroom was on the second floor of a 3-story garden type apartment development.

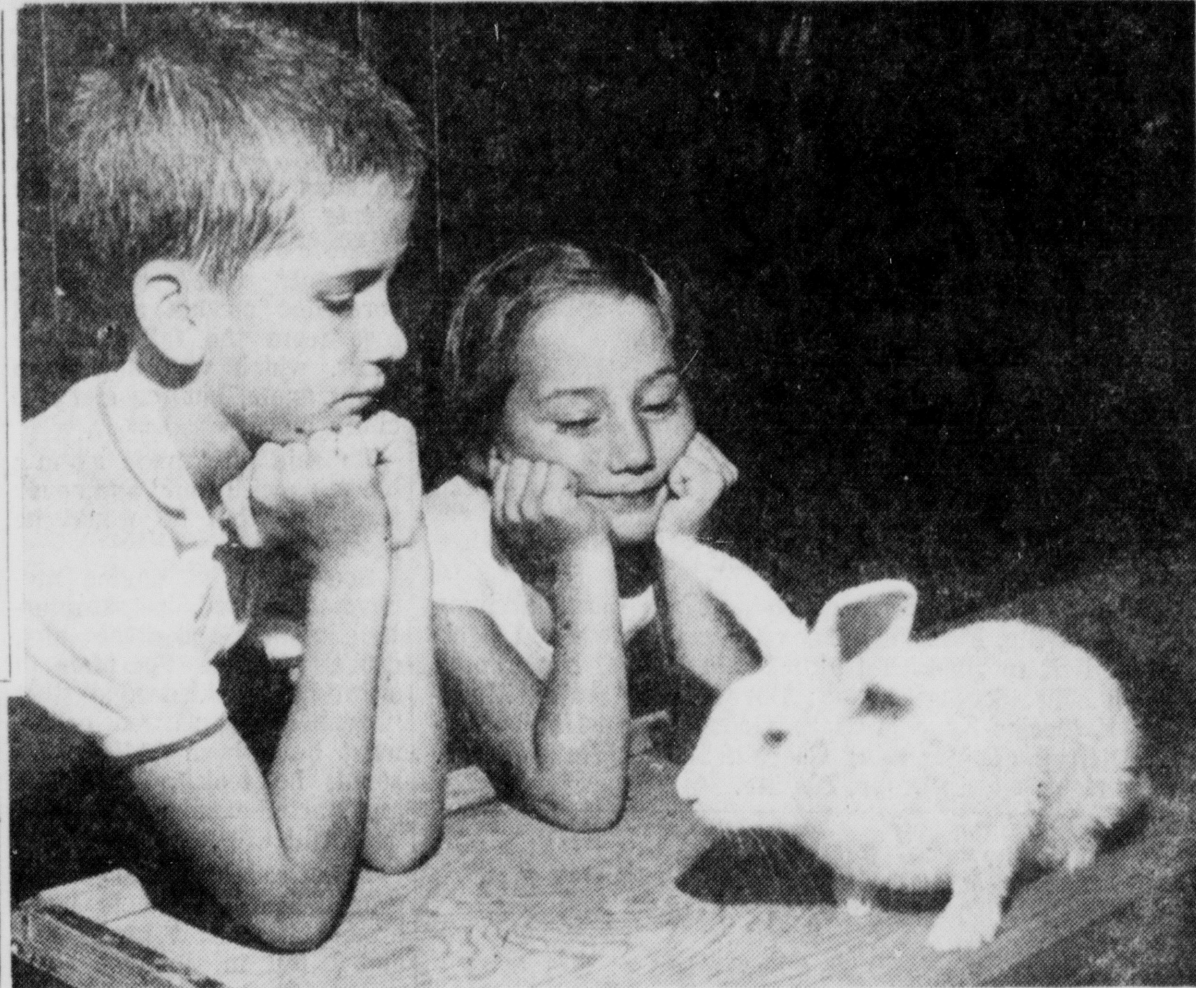

The girls had been feared kidnapped or slain after they disappeared while playing in front of their building in the same development Sunday afternoon.

The two little girls, showing no ill effects of their ordeal and enjoying all the attention, were still talking to reporters and photographers several hours after their rescue.

Both had hungrily gobbled up some of their favorite foods.

Dark-haired Rita Ohlgren had spaghetti and meatballs and a glass of milk. Next door, pigtailed, blonde Maria Theresa Morley had beef noodle soup, peanut butter sandwiches and a strawberry drink.

FUN AT 4-H FAIR

Sharing the fun at the Lancaster County Fair Tuesday meant sharing the popsize for Elaine Weber of Hickman and Regina Matthews of Hallam. They figured dairy calves like refreshment, too. Richard and Julie Beall of 3710 So. 37th admired a rabbit entry and pondered the possibility of a purple ribbon. (Star Photos, Story on Page 8)

—WEST AMBULANCE SET— Reds Trade Buses For Armored Cars

Berlin (AP)—Soviet sentries traveling to the Red War Memorial in West Berlin switched from buses to the cramped safety of armored personnel carriers Tuesday to avoid exposure to new stoning attacks.

The carriers were tailed by American military vehicles all the way into and out of West Berlin without incident.

The Western allies meanwhile took steps to halt violence at the hated Communist wall, among them the stationing of a U.S. Army ambulance on standby duty at the sector border to aid any refugees shot by East German guards.

The Russians, apparently tired of dodging rocks and bottles hurled by angry West Berliners, crossed over from East Berlin in a well-protected convoy but without any show of arms.

Heavy rain and extra police discouraged any new outbreaks by West Berliners protesting the slaying of a young East German refugee at the wall last Friday.

But the Soviets were taking no chances. In place of the usual buses for the change of guard at the War Memorial in the British sector, the sentries rode in 3 armored carriers.

Bringing up the rear were a Soviet staff car, an American military police sedan and two West Berlin motorcycle

Twin Astronauts Chuted Down 125 Miles Apart

Rendezvous In Space Not Attempted

Moscow (P) — The Soviet Union's twin astronauts said Tuesday only about 3 miles separated their ships at one time in space, but they never attempted a rendezvous and they parachuted to landings 125 miles apart.

Maj. Andrian Niolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich told newsmen the Vostok III and Vostok IV, like their predecessors, weighed about 5 tons. But they said the later models, which a Danish communist newspaper had speculated weighed 8½ tons, were "more advanced and more comfortable."

"I am glad to supply the information," said Popovich with a big grin as he and Nikolayev addressed their first news conference in Moscow.

They did not make it clear when 3 miles separated them in orbit, but it presumably was shortly after Popovich was rocketed up, Sunday morning, Aug. 12, to join Nikolayev, who had been soloing about 24 hours.

"I saw it (Nikolayev's ship) at once," Popovich said. "It looked like a very small moon in the distance."

Popovich dismissed a question about a possible rendezvous — the direct contact that would be necessary for building of platforms in space. Such platforms might be used to facilitate exploration of other planets or to strengthen military forces on earth.

"We had no rendezvous assignment and the landing was strictly according to schedule," Popovich said.

He said they made their landings last Wednesday 125 miles apart south of Karaganda in Kazakhstan, about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow. But their description of the landing methods was confusing.

Popovich merely said, "I landed beside my spaceship."

His colleague clearly used the word parachute. "After a certain time," Niolayev said, I separated from the spaceship and made my landing by parachute."

A moment earlier, Niolayev had talked about "the separation of the ship from the instrument compartment." But this concerned something before the retro-rockets were touched off to slow the ships from their orbital pace of about 17,500 miles per hour for entry into the earth's denser atmosphere.

French Law Chiefs Confer Over Threat

Paris (UPI) — French law enforcement chiefs conferred in emergency talks here Tuesday to map stern new measures for crushing a growing wave of violence blamed on terrorists of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS).

Justice Minister Jean Foyer held an emergency conference at his ministry with Surete Nationale chief Jacques Aubert and other top security and law enforcement officials.

French officials fear the lawlessness and banditry by OAS men who infiltrated France from Algeria may be the forerunner of a new all-out terror offensive designed to overthrow the regime of President Charles de Gaulle.

Get Prepared For More Sonic Booms

Omaha (P) — The Strategic Air Command said B58 supersonic bombers may cause sonic booms this week through Friday between 8:30 and 10 a.m. from 50 miles southeast of Rapid City, S.D., to Hastings.

Booms also may be expected Wednesday through Friday between 7:45 and 10 a.m. from near St. Louis to Lincoln.

Pension Fund Gets New Study

... Triggered By RFK

Chicago (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Tuesday launched a new federal grand jury investigation into the $180 million pension fund of James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

U.S. Atty. James O. O'Brien said the August session of the Chicago federal grand jury would investigate the teamsters' central states, southwest and southeast division pension funds, all headquartered in Chicago.

The Chicago grand jury was the latest in a series of investigations in Washington, Los Angeles and a dozen other cities into the fund's operations or the teamsters themselves.

Federal officials have said they believe that loans from the pension fund have been extended to resort hotels, Las Vegas gambling casinos and other "unusual" investments.

Charles Z. Smith, one of 5 special assistant attorneys general assigned to the case, said the investigation would cover possible mail fraud, fraud by wire and conspiracy with various persons, companies, corporations, firms, organizations and associations.

Rio de Janeiro (P) — The valor of civilians and Brazilian Air Force men plunging through blazing fuel oil to the rescue was credited Tuesday night with averting a major disaster in the crash of a Brazilian jetliner.

Though some were badly injured, 85 of the 104 persons aboard the huge jet emerged alive from the wreckage Monday night. Thirteen passengers and a stewardess perished and five persons still are missing.

No Americans were aboard.

Black Muslims Quizzed In Slaying Of A Girl, 17

Centerville, Ill. (UPI) — Authorities held two members of the Black Muslims cult Tuesday for the bludgeoning slaying of a 17-year-old Negro girl they admitted threatening to kill for being seen with a white man.

The body of Jennie Exum was found Saturday in a vacant lot near her home. She had been strangled and beaten to death with a 30-pound concrete block taken from a barbecue pit. She died from a blow on the head.

Authorities appeared uncertain as to what action would be taken. In custody were Tommy Gladner (alias Tommy Boyd), 34, a machine operator, and Canary Terry, 41, a junk yard laborer. Gladner said he is known as "Tommy X" in the Black Muslim movement.

State's Atty. John M. Karns Jr., said he plans to "review the case further" before deciding whether to seek warrants.

St. Clair County Deputy Coroner Norville Hickman said earlier Gladner would be charged with the murder and Terry would be charged as an accessory.

Both denied the killing, police said, but Gladner told them he would kill both parties if he ever saw a Negro in the company of a white person. Gladner said this was part of his belief as a Black Muslim.

Police said he and Terry admitted threatening to kill Miss Exum and her sister for being seen in the company of white men.

AF Lad Survives 84 Hours In Shaft Of Old Gold Mine

Rapid City, S.D. (UPI) — Doctors at Ellsworth Air Force Base said only the superb physical condition of a 19-year-old airman kept him alive during 84 hours he was trapped in the 50-foot shaft of an abandoned gold mine.

A.3.C. Gerald Becker, Mapleton, Minn., was hospitalized for observation after a tourist and two Forest Service employees pulled him out.

"I feel as strong as a bull and just as cocky," Becker told his rescuers. "But I am plenty hungry."

The doctors said Becker had only a few cuts and scratches on his arms and legs from the fall into the shaft, which was dug at a slight angle, but too steep to climb out.

He said he "made some bargains with God" and never lost hope that he would be rescued.

Becker, a jet engine mechanic dressed in summer-weight pants and a tee shirt, drove to Lake Sheridan to swim but decided against it "because it was too cold—must have been 50." So instead, he took a flashlight and started exploring the area near Hill City.

"I noticed this big hole in the ground and started to walk around it, but it gave way and I fell in. I must have yelled for a couple of hours, but it didn't go any good."

He said he yelled when he heard noises near the top of the shaft, but only when the two children of Peter Ptacek, Phoenix, Ariz., were near, were his cries heard.

Ptacek notified Deputy Pennington County Sheriff Frenchy Tyler at Hill City, S.D., who called the Forest Service.

Hoefle Ends His Own Life

FACING TRIAL AS A MASS SLAYER

Vienna, Austria (P) — Hermann Hoefle, 51, facing trial on charges of participating in the mass slaying of Jews in World War II, hanged himself in his prison cell Tuesday.

Hoefle has been named in the Adolph Eichmann trial in Israel and was arrested Jan. 31 at Salzburg.

Hoefle claimed he was being mistaken for another Hermann Hoefle, an SS general who was executed in Czechoslovakia in 1945.

However, material supplied by West German authorities linked him to an SS major who had a leading part in the extermination program of Jews in Poland, officials said.

Accuse Officers Of Bon Ami Co. Of Fund Diversion

New York (P) — Officers of the Bon Ami Co. were accused in State Supreme Court Tuesday of diverting about $500,000 of the company funds to their own use through dummy corporations, false entries and kickbacks.

The plaintiffs were Tel-A-sign and advertising materials company, described as owning 16.5% of Bon Ami's stock, and Mr. and Mrs. Olen Webb of New York City, also shareholders.

Named as defendants were: R. Paul Weesner, board chairman; Emil Morosini Jr., a director, vice president and secretary of the company, and other past or present directors.

Other Bon Ami officers named were: Bernard E. McFarland, Ralph A. Schwaikert and Walter W. Crutenden Jr., all directors.

Justice Frederick Backer signed an order calling upon the defendant officers to show cause Friday why a receiver should not be appointed to oversee company affairs.

Corn Progress Said Excellent

...Rains Needed In Dryland Areas

Corn made excellent progress in Nebraska last week with practically all tasseled except the very late planted fields, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Kernel development is ahead of normal. Blight has been reported in the southern and southeastern counties but is not considered to be a serious threat to the crop. Dry, hot weather brought on full scale irrigation. Most of the dryland area has a good supply of subsoil moisture but timely rains would be beneficial.

Milo is about all headed except in the western counties. Some late planted fields may have a close race with frost.

Dry beets and potatoes responded well to favorable weather and are making some recovery in condition as the season progresses. A few early planted beans will be ready for harvest in the near future but the main harvest will not get under way for some time.

Early potatoes have yielded well and prospects for the late crop are very good. Sugar beets are making good growth although stands were thinned by flooding and hail.

Soybeans made good growth during the past week and podding is well along in most areas. Prospects continue good for a bumper crop but a good rain would be beneficial.

Wild hay harvest continues in the Sand Hills with upland meadows yielding well and with a good quality crop. Some lowland meadows may not be harvested this year.

Almost 50% of the 3rd cutting of alfalfa has been completed with better quality being realized as weather during harvest was favorable for curing. Pasture and range feed continues in good supply but is showing signs of curing.

Calves have made very good gains so far this year. Weather conditions have been favorable for newborn pigs.

Jaffe Says Offer Was $12 Million

San Antonio, Tex. (UPI)—Texas businessman Morris D. Jaffe said Tuesday he and a group of associates have offered $12 million for the bankrupt estate of indicted farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes.

Jaffe, a 40-year-old discount store chain executive, said tentative agreement between his group and creditors of the estate call for an original payment of $7 million in cash and notes and $5 million in valid liens.

A Dallas lawyer, Monte Irion, revealed Monday that a subcommittee of the court-appointed creditors committee had agreed to sell the estate to Jaffe. The agreement is conditional upon acceptance of the full 7-member committee.

Should the sale go through, it would mean that creditors would get back approximately 89 cents on the dollar. The state is subject to debts estimated at $13.5 million.

Such a return would be nearly two times what was first expected. Earlier reports indicated the top offer for the estate totaled about $6.5 million.

Jaffe said his group would not purchase the estate unless it can get a clear title to all the assets.

Among the assets, he said, are farm lands, grain elevators, cotton storage plants in Tennessee, apartment houses, a funeral home, a water well drilling company, a flying service that is half paid for, many notes receivable and other holdings.

24-Hour Test Launched By Air Reserves

By The Associated Press
Nebraska Air Force Reserve recovery units launched a 24-hour test of their training in mobilization and evacuation Tuesday.

Teams from the 9528th Reserve Recovery Squadron, Grand Island, and 9529th, Kearney, the 9527th, Omaha, and the 8578th Recovery Group, Omaha, were put on simulated alert.

The Omaha squadron was evacuated to Scribner Air Base to set up operations and the Grand Island and Kearney units moved to the Hastings Municipal Airport.

The duty of the recovery units is to service aircraft from U.S. and friendly nations, treat wounded personnel and get aircraft back into service in the event of war when regular military bases might be under attack.

The mobilization and evacuation exercises highlighted active duty tours for members of the units. The tours for more than 200 from Nebraska and Western Iowa will end Sunday. About half of them were taking part in the evacuation.

Officers from the 2482nd Air Force Reserve Sector in Denver were observers of the tests.

4th Victim Of Jackson Crash Dies

Fremont Accident Claims One Life

By The Associated Press
A 4th victim of an ambulance-auto crash near Jackson died Tuesday in a Sioux City, Ia. hospital.

He was Carol Armstrong, 52, of Newcastle. His wife, Margaret, 49, remained in critical condition in a Sioux City hospital. Victor Weber, 59, Ponca, injured in the same accident, was in poor condition in a hospital.

Mr. Armstrong, who had been hurt in a farm accident, was being taken to the hospital when the ambulance in which he was riding was involved in a crash 2 miles east of Jackson on U.S. 20 Saturday night.

Killed in the crash were Donald Mohr, 70, Ponca, and Leo J. Heffernan, 30, and Fred Heeren, 56, both of Sioux City.

A Fremont man was killed early Tuesday in a head-on collision of his car and a semi-trailer truck 6 miles north of Fremont on U.S. 77-275.

The victim was Donald L. Reed, 31, who was alone in the car. The truck driver, Gillis A. Nelson, 35, of Wayne and his wife escaped with minor bruises. Mrs. Nelson was in the sleeping compartment of the truck cab.

State Patrol Trooper Clarence M. Mayhew said Reed's car was southbound and was in the northbound lane of traffic at the time of the crash.

The deaths raised Nebraska's 1962 traffic fatality toll to 218 compared with 196 at this time last year.

4 Omahans May Enter Suit On Reapportionment

Omaha (AP)—Four members of the Douglas County Board decided Tuesday to enter the legislative reapportionment suit in federal court.

Commissioners Dan Lynch, Jack Cavanaugh, Gus Dworak and Leonard Bergman agreed to ask to be permitted as individuals, to be represented as friends of the court. A 5th commissioner, Ralph Hefflinger, was absent.

The League of Nebraska Municipalities inaugurated the suit seeking reapportionment on a population basis. An amendment to be voted on in the fall would allow up to 30% weight to area in legislative reapportionment. The league also seeks to have the proposed amendment removed from the ballot.

Attorney Thomas P. Leary told the board Douglas County "would lose the equivalent of 100,000 votes" in the legislature if the amendment were adopted.

Lincoln Woman Is Injured In 3-Car Collision

A Lincoln woman was injured in a 3-car collision at 56th and Vine Tuesday night.

Martha I. Morris, 48, of 1025 No. 66th, was admitted to Providence Hospital with a rib injury following the crash. Her condition was given as good.

According to police, a west-bound car driven by the injured woman was in collision with one driven by Russell J. Evans, 20, of 4215 N. at the intersection.

The northbound Evans car then slid into a 3rd car driven by Raymond C. Schaefer, 47, of 1625 No. 58th. Schaefer's car was stopped for a stop sign north of the intersection, police said.

Taxicab Driver Finally Delivers

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

The 3rd time's a charm for Lincoln taxicab driver and amateur pediatrician James Holland.

A baby girl was born in Holland's cab while en route to Lincoln General Hospital early Tuesday morning.

The delivery was the 3rd maternity situation for the non-expectant driver in 3 months.

The new arrival, Janice Bierman, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Bierman of 541 So. 22nd. Both mother and baby are doing fine, according to the hospital, although Janice weighed only 3 pounds, 2 ounces and was placed in an incubator.

Sized Up Situation
Holland picked up the Biermans at 1:04 a.m. Tuesday and quickly sized up the mother's condition.

As soon as the mother and father were loaded in the cab, Holland began to roll. He called the Yellow Cab dispatcher and told him to alert Lincoln General.

"Baby on the way!" Holland radioed.

The baby was born from J to A on 16th Street, Holland said. Five blocks later at 16th and Euclid, just as the infant echoed his first cry, Holland pulled alongside a police cruiser and asked for escort.

With sirens wide open, the moving maternity ward sped to the hospital, where officers assisted Mrs. Bierman to the delivery room.

Three months ago, Holland, who lives at 3110 Starr with his wife and two children, was dispatched to an address in north Lincoln.

There he picked up a woman "obviously" in labor. The strapping 6-foot tall driver got the woman to St. Elizabeth Hospital before delivery began.

Close Call

Three weeks ago, Holland's cab almost made the pediatric list. Another expectant mother from a north Lincoln address was taken to Lincoln

General. She was just beginning to give birth when attendants removed her from the cab.

But Tuesday, the godfather-cabdriver really delivered.

By coincidence, Tuesday night Holland was dispatched to pick up Mr. Bierman, and drove him to the hospital.

Commenting on the morning ride, the father told Holland, "I think I was worse off than my wife."

"I was tempted to tell him I haven't lost a father yet," Holland said.

New Omaha Downtown Hospital Planned By Lutheran Center Officials

Omaha (AP)—Lutheran Medical Center officials announced Tuesday plans to build a new hospital in the downtown area of Omaha.

It would replace the present Lutheran General Hospital at 26th and Dewey which is at the western edge of the business district.

It will take an estimated 3 to 5 years to raise funds, design and build the new hospital which is expected to cost between $3 and $3.5 million.

G. F. Kroeger, president of the hospital board, said that in deciding to replace the present hospital trustees accepted recommendations of Dr. Louis Block, hospital consultant from Silver Springs, Md. Dr. Block said there will continue to be a need for a downtown hospital in Omaha.

A site for the new building has not been picked, although the Lutheran Medical Center already owns a good deal of property in the area of its present building.

Utility Facts And Fancy

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Two questions have been raised in regard to operations of the City Water Department since the coming water improvement program was discussed here last week. One of the questions involves water service off of main trunk lines and the other involves the status of the sewer use fee. Both are legitimate questions and fairly simple to answer, partly to the satisfaction of all and partly, no doubt, to the disagreement of some.

The question on service was whether the city is paying for lateral lines that run off the main water trunk lines. The answer is that the city has never paid for such lines and is not now doing so nor does it have any intention of doing this in the future. Specifically referred to was the recreational and residential development of the Salt Lake area north and east of what used to be Capitol Beach. The city is spending, or going to, $180,000 on a new 16-inch feeder main in West O west to the Raymond Rd. This will supplement the existing 8-inch main now serving the area.

This existing main was a WPA project of 1937-38 and is now completely outmoded. In fact, the city has not permitted a new tap of this main for the past five or six years. This is a very good example of how a city is stifled in growth as a result of inadequate water service. There is every reason to believe that construction of the new line will result in the full development of West O all the way to the Air Base Rd.

But while the city will build this main, as it has done throughout the city, the cost of running lines off the main and into the homes and businesses nearby will be at the expense of abutting property owners. The same thing is true throughout the rest of the city. Main feeder lines are constructed into a general area but the so-called laterals into homes and businesses are paid for by assessment against abutting property.

In this connection, it was noted by one person that he is living in an established area of the city and has already paid all he should for water main construction. His home is 30 years old, he said, and surely the cost of servicing it with water has been amortized out during that time. Thus, he shouldn't have to pay an increase in rates. Let the fellow who needs water now pay for it just as his home paid through its 30 years of life. The only trouble is, this logic breaks down if you look at the entire picture. For one thing, this fellow with the 30-year-old home didn't pay for all the cost of servicing this home. When the home was new the cost of getting water to it in terms of main feeders, wells, pumps, etc., was a cost shared by all the then residents of the city.

Space Not Peaceful

There should be widespread agreement with the statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, that "there can be peaceful purposes in space only if we recognize" the parallel need for military operations in space. In other words, space will be a peaceful place only if the West dominates it and makes it peaceful.

A leading spokesman for the conservative element of his party, Goldwater has long demanded a tougher approach to communism on the part of the United States and the rest of the free world. While we do not agree with all that he might propose to do, there can be little argument with his insistence upon preparedness.

In contradicting Pentagon spokesmen who have said there is no military significance to Russian space exploits, Goldwater is 100 per cent right. To fail to see the

Adventure In Cooking

This department would never cross swords with the women's section in its specialized fields, one of which is cooking. But it can't resist noting that the most interesting new kitchen dish is fried marbles.

Fried marbles are not new. Some say brides have been turning them out for generations under the name of biscuits. And there are some out of the way cafes, taking a lighthearted view of food, which are suspected of putting them out under all sorts of names. They are a low overhead item.

But this new version of fried marbles is an item not meant for eating. It is for ornament. Chief cook and perhaps inventor is a Mrs. Stanley Mann of Waukegan, New York. Most of the time Mrs. Mann, who is a contented housewife, dishes up fine food for her husband and two children. But when they are not applying for service she fetches out a skillet, turns on the heat and

What He Wanted To Hear

The National Farmers Organization is making the agricultural news in these midlands these days. Its dramatization of the farm problem has broken down the barrier of national apathy. An equally effective follow through may well change the course of public thinking.

The heady successes of the organization is a matter for the organization's Somewhere 30 years ago could have said the same thing then that this fellow is saying today and it wouldn't have carried any more weight than the same reasoning does today. The only people who could make a decent case on this argument are the original settlers of the city and there just aren't enough of them around anymore to count. Also, a person never outlives his community responsibility. A member of the church once asked his clergyman, "When is this constant request for more money ever going to end?" "I've got news for you," came back the clergyman, "it will go on for you for as long as you are a member of the church."

When it comes to responsibility you never hit the end of the line. You may shirk it now and then but it is always with you. When a new community demand comes along you will be called upon to bear your share of the load and no amount of work or sacrifice in the past will let you off the hook. And if you have the right kind of spirit and understanding you won't want off the hook.

So much for the water situation. Now for sewers and the use fee. The fee is 50 per cent of the water bill so if the water rates go up 25 per cent the sewer use fee will do the same and it is a good guess that this will be permitted to happen. The use fee is figured on your three winter months of usage. If you had a bill of $1.50 a month during this time your use fee would be 75 cents.

A 25 per cent hike in water rates would make the water bill $1.88 a month and the sewer bill 94 cents.

The question, then, is if the sewer fee hike is justified. This depends on timing of sanitary sewer improvements, a factor we assume the City Council will fully explore before it allows the sewer fee to be hiked. Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., say we will have to spend $3,321,000 on our sewer system between 1963 and 1975, another $1,636,000 by 1985 and another $2,479,000 soon after 1985.

The need is easily shown by facts. It is the council's job to see to it that the use fee is not hiked until an increase is needed to finance the demands of the future. An analysis of this situation is expected this Monday when the council will look at an amendment to the use fee ordinance to bring it into line with the new water rates on the matter of the minimum bill. New water rates automatically change the use fee but the minimum fee of 50 cents a month will have to be raised 25 per cent to 63 cents if the water hike is permitted to change the basic sewer use fee.

military implications of the space race is to be operating in a mental vacuum. How anyone in the Pentagon could fail to recognize the military importance of space is difficult to understand.

The military effects are many and varied. For one thing, the same vehicles used to travel in space can be used to send atomic weapons throughout the world. The guidance system needed to put a man into orbit around the earth and to hit the moon is a guidance system that can be used to pinpoint a military target with a bomb.

Beyond this, space itself is considered a prime military area. With man's capacity to destroy practically all of the earth, the only place left is space. Furthermore, space furnishes a base for both attack on and defense of the earth. There is hardly any doubt that space will be the battlefield of the next war if one comes.

when frying temperature is reached she puts a handful of glass marbles of varying color in the skillet and stirs carefully. Mrs. Mann does not use salt and pepper or any other seasoning. Marbles don't need it. But at the right moment she empties the hot batch into a tray of water in which ice cubes are floating. There, something goes on for a moment or two in a low tone of voice. And the miracle is finished. The shiny surface of the marbles remain as ever. But inside a lot of crackling has gone on, reshaping the marbles into facets reminding of a diamond ring.

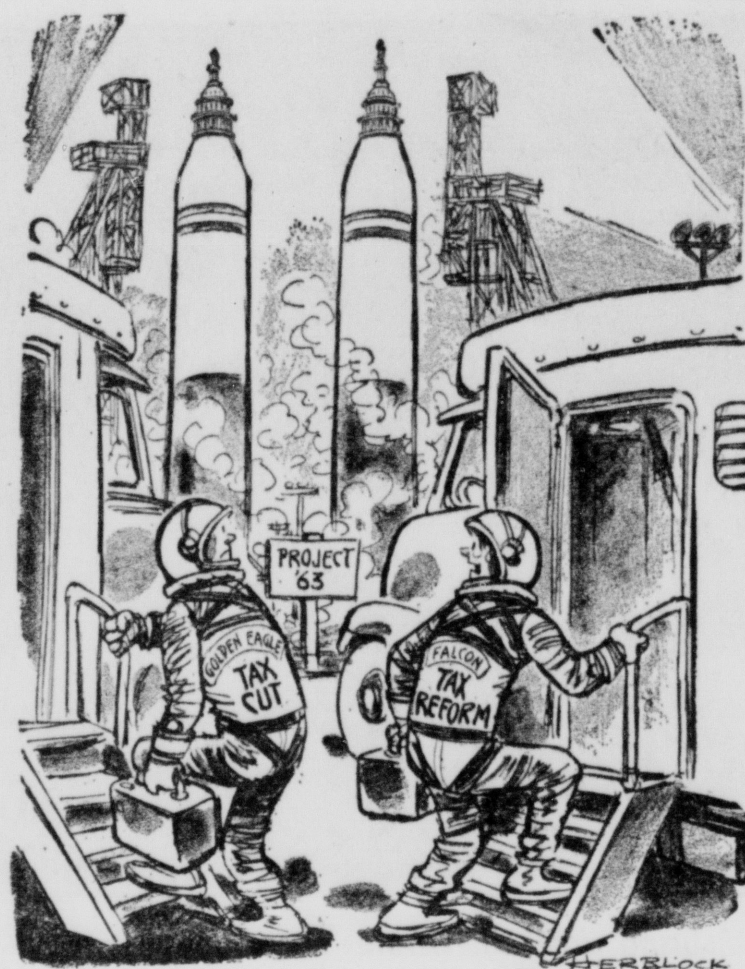

After that it is a case of using some jeweler's glue to fasten metal prongs and then linking the marbles together with a chain.

They are so pretty they have become a popular costume jewelry item and Mrs. Mann has cooked up a special batch for Jacqueline Kennedy and her well-known daughter, Caroline.

archives. Of greater effect is a simplification of the farm problem which is attracting as many non-member farmers as the members, themselves. It is the contention that there is nothing wrong with farming that equitable prices cannot cure. Government programs, soil banks, complicated administrative procedures can give way at a great deal of saving of public money. Balancing of supply and demand can be effected on the farm if the farmer can afford it. A relatively modest across the board price adjustment provides the key.

This is a doctrine that fits into the grooves of the heart of the family sized farmer. It is what he has wanted to hear. It takes away the gnawing threat of an exodus into a labor pool, the breaking up of a wanted way of life, a divorce from the land. It brings vision of less frenetic farming, of self-fallowing land according to one's own plan, of a farm that doesn't have to be mined for bare survival, of a work week comparable to that in the city with a return sufficient to provide security and well being. It also brings the promise of restful sleep instead of nightly anxiety.

Agricola may be right. The economists and the politicians may be wrong. Certainly the national roof wouldn't fall in if there were a price adjustment. It didn't fall in when other commodities adjusted to higher levels. At any rate it has now been said and the man who tills the western quarter is going to stand on it.

East-West See Tito As Prize

PULA, Yugoslavia—Whether the one billion dollars which the United States has spent for aid to Yugoslavia is wasted or well invested will hang in the balance when President Tito goes to Moscow late this year or early next.

That he is taking such a trip was perhaps the most important news Tito gave me during the lengthy interview at his island of Brioni last week.

"I have been invited to spend a vacation in the Soviet Union," he said, "but so far I have had no time to go. Perhaps at the end of this year or early next year, however, I shall go. I have been invited to rest," he said frankly, "but of course that means to talk."

Earlier, he had said that he planned to talk to Premier Khrushchev about patching up his differences with the United States. However, it is just as certain that Khrushchev will see the visit to Tito as Tito back into the Soviet orbit as it is certain that southern senators will filibuster against civil rights. Nothing galls the Kremlin more than an independent Yugoslavia.

Marriner Eccles Asks Bold Action

WASHINGTON — Marriner Eccles, a famous figure here during the Roosevelt-Truman decades, has admonished President Kennedy to let his mind be bold in dealing with the national economy. Eccles spent 17 years in the Federal Reserve System, where he was easily the dominant figure, prolific of ideas and practical in their execution.

His prescription to the Joint Committee on the Economic Report had the Eccles touch. It tersely outlined the basic problem, struck at it from every angle and threw in an appealing first step. That step was an immediate cut of five percentage points across the board in individual income taxes.

Much of what Eccles told the committee the President has been told to do by others, but they separated the problem, leaving Kennedy to make his own consensus or strive to form one in Congress. The method has failed, and the clichés of the economic dialogue will dominate the campaign according to what each candidate for Congress conceives to be his best interest.

Possibly this could not be avoided this year. Candidates in New Hampshire and California alike complain of voter apathy. Democrats are reassured by the President's western swing, with its indications of his personal pulling power. Few expect much help from it unless and until the President actually touches the ground, and not merely airports in their districts.

Republicans are cheerfully planning a campaign based on what they did not let the President do during the present session. They seem satisfied it will work; they expect the Midwest and South to give them a greater voice building up 70 per cent of its trade with the West, opening its doors to thousands of tourists from the West, receiving U.S. fighter planes and other military equipment from the West, and at times thumbing its supposedly red, but actually pink, nose at Moscow.

The leaders of the Kremlin, however, read the newspapers. And when they see that Sen. John Tower of Texas almost accuses President Kennedy of treason for selling fighter planes to Tito — though the deal was actually closed by Eisenhower — and when they see Sen. Frank Lausche of Ohio whipping the Senate into such a tizzy that it votes to cut off all aid to Yugoslavia, then you can be sure the leaders of the Kremlin will make the most of it.

The big question, therefore, is: Will the one billion-dollar gamble of the Truman-Eisenhower-Kennedy administrations be wasted? With Yugoslavia, the independent, semi-westernized communist country, be cajoled back to the Kremlin?

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ag Department Reform Foreseen

WASHINGTON — Among the dreams of glory cherished by many characters in the Washington cast is to play the lead in a spectacular congressional investigation — big names under the television lights and sensational charges rocketing through the headlines.

If recent developments are any indication, that era has passed with the disappearance of frontier (ol. frontier) types simple-minded enough to carry wads of money in little black bags and to talk grandiosely in bugged hotel rooms. The headlines, as the Billie Sol Estes inquiry is proving, are much harder to come by.

Sen. John McClellan, chairman of the investigating subcommittee, is pursuing his way through the vast and tortuous bureaucracy of the Department of Agriculture with customary patience and determination. It is, however, a task with few spectacular rewards. Hours of questioning go into trying to show the intentions of witnesses such as the general counsel of the department, John C. Bagwell, and whether he did or did not try to find a way to smother the Billie Sol affair. Bagwell says no; committee members are suspicious.

This is a far cry from the aura of sensation surrounding the Estes case at its inception. Enthusiastic diggers in the mess expected at the start to come up with big names. In Texas it was widely rumored that Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson would be tied to the scandal. The only connection shown to date was in a letter of the polite and impersonal type that a senator might write to any constituent.

The hearings have several weeks to run, and they could still produce a shocker. Several witnesses remain to be heard, among them Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy. Secretary Orville Freeman will probably be recalled to go over the ground covered by his subordinates.

And then there is Billie Sol himself, who is by now a somewhat shopworn figure. He has been indicted so many times that probably only his own lawyers know the score. What with the rivalries of Texas politics, every crime in the book has been imputed to him and, by implication, the overlords of the Department of Agriculture who sanctioned, if they did not actually encourage, him. A strange case of suicide that seems to have been murder was dragged into the case and never unraveled. Estes is expected to fall back on the Fifth Amendment when he comes before McClellan's committee.

Yet none of the indictments cover the cotton allotment program, which was the core of the Estes get-rich-quick scheme, and McClellan plans to center the questioning on that phase.

All this does not mean the investigation has been a futile exercise. On the contrary, it has shown up many of the inefficient and wasteful practices in the agricultural subsidy program, which resembles nothing so much as an ever-spreading money tree that everybody wants to shake.

At the same time, Freeman has been introducing a series of administrative reforms aimed at preventing abuses disclosed in the Estes case. Above all, he has been trying to get a more direct and forceful grip on the unwieldy machine he is supposed to guide. He has named an inspector general who will review the internal audit operations of 10 major agencies in the department and report directly to him. As in other swollen government departments, the head man has been separated by several layers of bureaucracy from control and direction.

Freeman lists a series of other changes made in recent months to put the house of agriculture in better order. But short of broad legislative action, it seems inevitable that the worse abuses will continue.

The lush handouts that come from a host of programs built up over the years are supported by the powerful farm lobby. For every farm state member of Congress, whether Democrat or Republican, these programs mean votes in the ballot box which they will not sacrifice. From the big handouts that go for grain storage, to private and co-op elevators, down to profit on farm ponds financed by the Department, the system has grown with a jungle-like luxuriance, and it has defenders on every side in Congress.

Only drastic legislative action can prune back this jungle. The recommendations to be made by the McClellan committee in a final report could serve as the basis for such pruning by the House and Senate Agriculture Committees.

But those committees have long been dominated by the farm lobby. How the pruning is to be carried out — even more important, whether it is to be carried out — are unresolved questions. With apparently a bumper grain crop coming up, reform is more urgent than ever. The staggering weight of hundreds of thousands of tons of surplus wheat and corn and butter presses down on the economy and on the federal budget alike with relentless force.

BOB CONSIDINE

First To Moon—So What?

NEW YORK—People . . .

places . . . things . . . It seems so fat-headed for our National Aeronautics and Space Administration nabobs to rush to the TV cameras in the wake of every Soviet space conquest and fatuously assure the taxpayers that we'll still beat them to the moon.

There are several good reasons to believe that we'll not beat them to the moon. What the NASA officials should tell the people, it seems to me, is that if the Russians get there tomorrow we'll still have to plug in there at the endless and costly tasks of figuring out how to get there ourselves. The maritime nations of Europe did not throw in the towel when Columbus made it to the New World in the name of Ferdinand and Isabella. Where's Spain today?

Over the decades this country has done quite well with ideas and products not of our invention. We didn't get there "first with the most" in a number of callings at which we eventually excelled. An Italian fathered the wireless, a team of Germans split the atom, an Englishman found penicillin, a German gave us the sulfa, a Swede showed us how to build a log cabin.

We'll get to the moon first, but if not first then second, and if not second then third. Because it's there, and the power that does not try for it knows its days of greatness are sternly numbered.

Students of the Brink's robbery of a dozen years ago find the recent heist of $1,500,000 from a mail truck as absorbing a crime as the one which catapulted Specs O'Keefe, Tony Pino, etc. etc. to notoriety. They see parallels, too. The presence of a "Tony" at the stick-up, the use of multiple cars, the timing and efficiency of the robbers, and a burned getaway car.

Unquestionably, the FBI and that much older investigative service, the Post Office Department's Sleuthing division, have dropped in to see the surviving members of the Brink's robbery gang. Seven of them, all serving life sentences, are confined at the Massachusetts correctional institution at Walpole. O'Keefe, who was gypped out of his share and survived two blazing efforts by paid-killer Trigger Burke to liquidate him, turned state's evidence and now is living in his self-imposed shadows. All Brinksmen probably have pretty firm ideas on who could have pulled the latest blast. Whether they'll talk of course, is something else.

The $1,500,000 in cash taken from the mail truck tops the $1,218,211.29 stolen from Brink's. But the Brink's robbers also grabbed $1,557,183.83 in checks and money orders, which they destroyed as too hot to handle. Another $100,000 in bills numerically arranged was supposed to have been destroyed by one of the robbers, Joe McGinnis, but apparently he suffered a lapse of memory. In their hurry to leave Brink's that night of January 17, 1950, the men also left behind a hamper they later learned contained a $600,000 General Electric payroll.

That still distresses them.

Man is stirred by few greater joys than the news that his doctor can't find much wrong with him.

During the course of a recent 3-day checkup at the Mayo clinic we heard an old guy break the traditional silence that sits heavily on all elevators by suddenly shouting, "I'm the happiest man in the world!" He said it several times, each time brandishing a document which apparently was his clean bill of health.

We thought he was some kind of a nut . . . until it happened to us.

There is a little bar just forward of the dining room on the Rhine steamers. And in the middle of it a lady stood weeping as though her heart would break.

"Pay no attention to her," said a British tour conductor. He did not bother to lower his voice, though she stood only five feet away. "She can jolly well shut it off."

"Why is she crying?" "Because she cannot get a seat. They sold 1,000 more tickets on the steamer than they had room for. I can't manufacture seats, silly woman."

The lady peeked around over her fur collar and moaned pitifully.

The British tour conductor looked at her coldly and drank his beer. He had a good seat.

We boarded the Rhine steamer at Wiesbaden early in the morning. The upper deck already was stacked 4 deep in chairs at the rail. Hundreds of people were standing. It was a 3-day holiday in Germany and all Germany was traveling.

They sang songs and snapped the suspenders on their short leather pants. They waved to everybody on the bank and drank gallons of German beer. I boarded with my daughter, Kristen. She stood forlornly on the crowded deck and waited for me to do something.

"You must learn to let them stand, old boy," said the British tour conductor. "Here I am with 22 South African women, all without chairs. I simply turned them loose and found myself a seat."

He was a sporty looking gent. A little frayed around the edges and especially the cuffs of his shirt. But he said he was doing the tour only as a lark.

"For a friend of mine who runs the travel agency in London. Same club. Same regiment. Couldn't let old Freddie down, could I?"

I am a soft-hearted journalist. I went below and collared the bar steward. I showed him 10 marks and he looked interested.

"I wish seats for me and my daughter. The whole trip." "The bar is not reserved." "It is difficult. Very difficult. Against the regulations." Five Frenchmen came in and ordered service. I handed the bar steward 10 more marks. He pocketed it and began to issue orders.

"The bar is reserved," he told the Frenchmen, "a diplomatic party."

We rode the plush all the way down the Rhine. In the middle of the room the South African lady wept on. Little gasping weeps with a peek over the shoulder at times to see how the British tour man was taking it.

He took it very well. Never moved out of his chair. Instead he struck up a lively conversation with my daughter.

We floated down the lazy river. Us and the lazy tour conductor. I went out and tipped the bar steward with 5 more marks. By this time he was on my side.

"Alles ist reserviert," he cried at the people who tried to muscle in. "Verboten to enter." He brought German beer and German sausage. Blood sausage, liverwurst, cheese. Neirsteiner wines from the vines that reach up the high hills of the Rhine.

We floated along past the Mouse Tower and the Lorelei. The weeping lady touched my heart. I got up and gave her my seat. Her tears dried. The British conductor shot his frayed cuffs and intimated that he was a wealthy second son of a noble family.

Police Dig Up Bodies ...IN BASEMENT

San Francisco (AP)—Police digging in the basement of a missing confidence woman's house unearthed a steamer trunk and a second body Tuesday.

Monday they found the body of Jay Arneson, 70-year-old invalid operator of a Santa Rosa Motel who vanished last January. A belt was pulled tight about the neck.

Arneson's wife, Mildred, 58, disappeared last December and police suspected a double slaying. They continued to probe under the freshly laid concrete floor at 490 Ellington Ave. Late Tuesday they found the trunk.

Woman's Body

It contained a woman's body, not immediately identified.

Police urged extreme caution in an all-point bulletin for the missing confidence woman, Mrs. Iva Kroeger, 44. She had taken over the Arneson's motel and tried to float two $5,000 loans on a deed notarized by Mrs. Arneson. Mrs. Kroeger vanished last May after pulling a gun on a bill collector.

Mrs. Kroeger's husband, Ralph, 61, was arrested on suspicion of murder after pickaxes uncovered Arneson's body under the basement of the Kroeger home in San Francisco's mission district.

Wife's Work

Kroeger denied all knowledge of any slayings. He said his wife had worked in the basement.

"She told me was going to have a garbage disposal put in," he informed police.

Search for Mrs. Arneson's body was begun by police at a spot 12 feet away from Arneson's grave. Police inspector Kenneth Manley said Kroeger pointed out the spot, saying:

Soft Spot

"Right about here there was a soft spot; there had been a barrel in the earth... it was all covered over with concrete. I don't know what may be there."

The coroner's office said a dark belt was around Arneson's neck and he apparently had been strangled.

The all-points bulletin for Mrs. Kroeger described her as bad-tempered, a confidence woman, and "a proverbial liar."

Worker's Tip

A construction worker's tip led to Monday's grim finding.

The worker, Walter Hughes, had transferred from the former Arneson motel to another in Santa Rosa run by Mrs. Joan Dodge.

Mrs. Dodge told Hughes that Mrs. Charles Webster, a sister of Mrs. Arneson, had arrived from Seattle to look for the missing woman. That prompted Hughes to say he had driven Mrs. Kroeger and the invalid Arneson to the Kroeger home last January and had dug a hole in the floor. He said Mrs. Kroeger told him the hole was "for some plumbing."

Man Facing Execution Blames Girl In 3 Killings

Big Spring, Tex. (AP)—John Edwin Myer, 33, who is awaiting execution for one of 4 slayings committed by him and his 14-year-old girl friend in a cross country jaunt, Tuesday blamed the girl, Donna Marie Stone, for 3 of the killings.

Myer, in a jail cell interview said his young lover killed Carol Ballard, 10, of Belleville, Ill.; Miss Margaret Warnicker, 39, of near Belleville, and Lee Dekraai, 30, of Ottumwa, Iowa, a hitchhiker in Texas. Myer is under death sentence in connection with the latter killing.

He admitted shooting only George Ballard, 49, father of Carol. Donna Marie pleaded guilty Monday to shooting the Ballards and was sentenced to an indeterminate reformation term on a charge of voluntary manslaughter.

This account varied from that in the original signed statements by Myer and his juvenile girl friend.

In confessions, signed after their arrest, Myer and the girl said that Myer shot Ballard and his daughter in the head with a .22 caliber pistol with the intention of obtaining a car so the pair could leave the area.

Myer, in an interview with Sam Blackburn of the Big Spring Herald, said he is not resentful that Donna Marie received a comparatively light sentence while he is awaiting execution.

"I am happy that Donna got off as light as she did," he said. "I know what Donna was up against when she set out on that trip. She was just filled up to the top with hate and anger at the world at large. I don't blame her for what she done. She had to do it."

Was 75-Year-Old Widow Victim Of 'Mad' Killer?

Boston (UPI)—A 75-year-old widow who lived alone was found strangled in her Beacon Hill apartment Tuesday night—possibly the victim of a "mad killer" believed responsible for the deaths of 4 other elderly women in the past 9 weeks, police said.

The latest victim was identified as Mrs. Ida Irga, a short, bespectacled motherly woman who lived quietly in her 5th-floor apartment and was fond of telling her neighbors about her son, a former Massachusetts Institute of Technology professor.

Mrs. Irga's nude body was found on the floor of a small hallway in her 3-bedroom apartment, police said. It appeared that she had been beaten and garrotted with a pillow case in a preliminary examination.

A neighbor, who lived on the floor beneath Mrs. Irga's apartment, said that she had not heard any unusual noises from the apartment.

Edward G. Quint, a 25-year-old bank teller who lives on the 1st floor to the apartment building, told police Mrs. Irga's daily routine seldom varied. He said she would take a walk each day, do some shopping and speak to her neighbors. She hardly ever left her apartment after dark, he said.

Both Quint and a next-door neighbor, Mrs. Mabel Goff, said Mrs. Irga kept to herself for the most part but was cordial in speaking to her neighbors.

Police reported that in at least two of the stranglings over the past 3 months, the women lived in apartments in which a bell opened the main door to the building. This was also the case with Mrs. Irga's apartment.

Frontier Airlines, in cooperation with America's great car-rental systems, has devised a new, convenient, money-saving Fly/Drive Plan for Kansas City-Lincoln travelers.

Frontier has reduced its round-trip commuter fare between these two cities from $33.99 to $25.00 including tax. And, all three car-rental agencies have reduced their 24-hour (50 mile maximum) rate to $11.00.

This means that you may spend a full business day in Kansas City for a total air-and-auto transportation cost of only $36.00. Can you drive your car to Kansas City and return for $36.00?

This new plan has been designed by Frontier Airlines to save you money, to add to your travel convenience, and to save you the eight hours of driving-time round trip to Kansas City. And, Frontier now operates six flights each business day to and from Kansas City—truly a commuter schedule.

For details, call your favorite travel agent or Frontier Airlines, HE 2-5391.

Shuman's Opposition Asked

... BY WEBSTER COUNTY FARM BUREAU

Guide Rock—Webster County Farm Bureau members have asked Charles Shuman, the national president of the American Farm Bureau Federation to take a strong stand publicly opposing the agricultural plan presented by the Committee on Economic Development.

"It seems that many farmers have the feeling that CED statements appear to be the ideas of former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson, who was very much under the influence of Farm Bureau. A stand made publicly would change many farmers' minds," said Alfred Schutte of Guide Rock, Webster County Farm Bureau president.

Shuman was told in a letter that the Nebraska Farm Bureau had suffered a real loss in membership this past year and if a strong stand is not taken for the rank and file farmer "things will not get any better."

Dyess Quoted

The Webster County Farm Bureau members said that additional emphasis should be placed on their request of the parallel drawn between CED and the Farm Bureau by James B. Dyess, executive vice-president of the National Wheat Growers Assn., who addressed Nebraska wheat growers at Ogallala Monday.

Dyess charged that the Farm Bureau's Cropland Adjustment Program and the CED are "virtually identical."

Webster County members told Shuman, "We are concerned that you have not taken a public stand against the CED."

The Webster County group planned to join in demonstrations against the CED. A similar program has been inaugurated by the National Farmers Organization.

Houser Defends CED Plan

By The Associated Press
The former chairman of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. board of directors Tuesday defended the farm recommendations of the Committee on Economic Development.

The CED is only trying to improve the farmers' lot, said Theodore Houser.

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) has been conducting demonstrations in Nebraska and elsewhere in protest against a recommendation by the CED that farm prices be lowered and two million farmers be diverted into other occupations.

NFO Marches
Groups of NFO members have marched on Sears stores to return their catalogues and protest Houser's part in the CED.

Houser, who lives in Carolina County, Va., was reached in New York by the Associated Press. He told the AP:

"I consider the action of some of the farmers threatening to boycott non-American."

"The CED was merely attempting to better their conditions by finding employment in industry instead of on farms."

Houser is still a Sears director. Asked about a report he had resigned because of the NFO protest, he replied: "Of course not."

Boyd: Central Is Neutral On Rurals' Plan

Jack Boyd of Holdrege, manager of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, took issue Tuesday with a statement made Monday that his district is lined up against the rurals' plan for a single wholesale power agency.

Boyd, who is also vice chairman of the Central Public Power Committee, said Central is still neutral on any realignment of the generation and transmission agencies of the state.

At a meeting of the rurals held Monday, it was noted that Central voted against the single district proposal.

Boyd said his district has taken no stand on any of 3 suggested plans. They are—the single district; 5 independent districts like the Omaha Public Power District; and splitting the Nebraska public power system into two districts.

Boyd said "practically all benefits claimed by one plan or the other are still purely speculative."

He said he would like to see each of the proposals get a thorough study prior to December and then have the plans judged strictly on their merits.

The Central district, he added, is entitled to know much more about how the merger would operate and what its effect would be since each plan contemplates dissolving the district's sole buyer of its power.

Colombo, Ceylon (AP) — The government has announced it will postpone from Aug. 27 to Oct. 22 a cut in the weekly rice ration. The cut, proposed as a means of saving foreign assets, aroused wide resentment and endangered the government of Premier Mrs. Sirimavo R. D. Bandaranaike.

Missing Tax Schedule Blocks Club's License

The Safari Club in West Lincoln will not have its amusement license renewed unless its operator, G. L. Hardesty, submits the club's personal property tax schedules to the county assessor for processing.

The decision of Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday was prompted by a letter to the board in which County Assessor Arthur Davis reported that his office had never received 1961 or 1962 personal property tax schedules from Hardesty.

Davis further noted that letters from his office had been ignored by Hardesty.

(After it was noted that the club was not incorporated until October, 1961, Davis said his office had not checked the incorporation date but had merely checked to see if a schedule had been received in 1961, since none had been turned in this year.)

(He said when they didn't find on, it was assumed that the club had failed to comply last year also.)

The club, which operates as a bottle club with a members-only policy, must have the amusement license in order to operate.

Failure to submit the tax schedule carries a 50% penalty, according to Davis.

Man Sentenced On DWI Charge

A Lincoln man was sentenced to one year in the State Penitentiary Tuesday on a 3rd offense driving while intoxicated charge.

Dale M. Applebee, 54, of 2120 O, who pleaded guilty to the Aug. 11 offense Aug. 13, had been convicted on two previous charges of driving while intoxicated.

Lancaster District Judge John Polk also suspended his driver's license for one year after release from the institution.

Senate Group Gives 4 Steel Companies 'Second Chance'

Washington (AP) — Four steel companies that balked at submitting production cost data were given "a second chance" Tuesday by the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee.

Chairman Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said after a closed-door meeting of the group that the subcommittee voted 5 to 3 on party lines to issue new subpoenas for the records.

Kefauver had announced before the meeting that he would ask the subcommittee to vote contempt of Congress citations against the 4 companies — National, Republic, Bethlehem and Armco.

Another Chance

Instead, he told newsmen, the group decided to issue new subpoenas, directed not only against the companies but also against their chief officers, giving them another chance to comply.

Kefauver said the motion to take this action was made by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. and Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and adopted by a vote of 5 Democrats to 3 Republicans.

The new subpoenas will go out immediately and will be returnable in 10 to 12 days.

Rescinded

The original subpoenas for detailed unit cost figures were issued last April after a $6-a-ton steel price increase was announced but later rescinded under White House pressure and a split within industry ranks.

Kefauver said at the time the data on production costs was essential to "an intelligent evaluation of the need for price increases."

Agreement subsequently was reached that the subpoenaed information could be supplied on shorter and simpler questionnaires than were first proposed.

Kefauver announced on Aug. 14 that 8 steel producers, including U.S. Steel, had indicated they would comply with the subcommittee's subpoenas even though they voiced strong objections to submitting unit cost figures.

He said he had advised them, however, they need not produce the data "until the question of compliance by the non-complying companies has been finally determined."

The 4 companies that balked protested the subcommittee was asking for confidential information that would damage them if it got into the hands of foreign or domestic competitors. They also argued the cost figures were none of the subcommittee's business.

Kefauver has outlined plans to handle the information in a way he said is designed to prevent the disclosure of production costs of individual producers.

Penitentiary Inmate Is Sentenced Again

Lancaster District Judge John Polk has sentenced a Penitentiary inmate to an additional one year in the institution on a forgery charge.

Judge Polk ordered his term to run consecutive to the term he is presently serving.

U.S. May Propose Atmospheric Test Ban

Washington (AP) — Authoritative U.S. sources said Tuesday the United States is about ready to propose an atmospheric test ban treaty at the Geneva disarmament conference.

The sources said the United States still would prefer a comprehensive nuclear test ban, outlawing underground explosions as well as all others.

But it appears increasingly doubtful that the Soviets will agree to the on-site inspection safeguards the West demands as part of such an agreement.

There have been indications recently that the West was seriously considering the more limited ban against atomic shots in the atmosphere that has been gaining favor among the neutrals at Geneva as a possible first-step treaty in the absence of accord on a more comprehensive treaty.

In-the-air nuclear blasts are the easiest to police against cheating. They also cause the radioactive fallout which can harm people's health if dispersed in too large amounts.

The imminence of U.S. acceptance of the partial atomic ban idea became known following a statement by Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader in the Senate, asking that the United States promptly propose an atmospheric test ban treaty. He said there had been an alarming increase in radioactive fallout.

Miss Diane Robotham also entertained recently for the bride-elect. The guest list included former school friends of Miss Schnell, who was presented a bridal shower during the informal evening.

Miss Patsy Lou Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Schmidt of Cozad, became the bride of Eugene V. Herbert Jackman read the lines of the 3 o'clock service at the Cozad Methodist Church, and Miss Judy Edwards of Lexington, organist, played the wedding music. Larry Patterson of Lincoln was the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Larry Patterson of Lincoln, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Lynn Gomom, Lincoln, and Miss Jeanne Garner, Cozad, were frocked in white nylon organza over taffeta. Each carried a single, long-stemmed American Beauty rose.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

Former Coed, Bride

Houseguests seem in the ascendant, newswise, these days, followed closely by new babies, birthdays, and trips.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Frey will be host and hostess to several houseguests next weekend. The visitors will come to Lincoln to attend the wedding of Mrs. Frey's niece, Betty Callahan, who will become the bride of Jerry Gehri of Gibbon on September, 4.

Arriving on Friday, August 31, will be Mrs. Frey's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Callahan, and their daughters Connie and Jean of Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. Frey's mother, Mrs. Grace Callahan of Red Cloud, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Giger and son Gene of Gibbon, who will all spend the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frey.

On August 14, twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gruenemeyer at St. Elizabeth hospital. The young ladies who have been named Shari Lou and Cindy Lee are now at home and getting nicely settled. However they still have their brother Donald, and sister Rosalie Jane, and their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Huber of Nebraska City to meet. Donald and Rosalie, and Mr. and Mrs. Huber, with whom they have been visiting for the past week or so, expect to come to Lincoln soon to see the twins.

Since the very first of August Mr. and Mrs. Merritt L. Anderson have been busy welcoming various members of their family. During the past three weeks they have entertained Mr. Anderson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Short, and their son; his mother Mrs. Stella Anderson, all of Springfield, Ill.; and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Anderson, of Champaign, Ill.

Also a guest at the Anderson home during this period was Lutz Reimers of West Berlin, Germany, who came to Lincoln with a group of young German people under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club. Lutz spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and also visited in other Lincoln homes for two additional weeks.

Previous to their August guests, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson entertained Mrs. Anderson's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hedgeth of Joliet, Ill.

Mrs. Stella Anderson, who will be returning home on Thursday, will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Courtwright entertained Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bozarth and their family at a cook-out.

Rollie Courtwright, however, missed the affair for quite an exciting reason. On Friday he went to Kansas City to visit friends and to attend the game between the New York Yankees and the Kansas City Athletics, and did not return home until Tuesday.

Morning Ceremony

At a 10 o'clock morning ceremony on Saturday, Aug. 11, Miss Barbara Jean Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon C. Nelson of Holdrege, became the bride of John Edmund Clinch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Clinch of Lincoln. The service was solemnized by the Rev. John F. Scott at St. James Church in Holdrege, and Mrs. Lyle Ackerman, organist, played the wedding music. The vocal soloist was Mrs. Larry Holland.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John McElroy of Grand Island, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaids were Miss LaRhea Swedell and Miss Karel Moyer, both of Mitchell. Frocked in blue crystalet, the attendants carried bouquets of white daisies.

John McElroy of Grand Island served as best man, and the ushers were Roger Jones of Minden, and Vern Landis, Hershey.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white, embroidered organza over taffeta. The fitted basque was designed with a rounded neckline and long sleeves, and petite bows and banding of silk ribbon trimmed the bouffant skirt, which extended into a chapel train. A crown of jeweled lace held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of small white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinch will reside in Lincoln at 807 So. 46th. Both August graduates of Kearney State College, they will teach in the Lincoln Schools this fall. The bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Phi sorority and Alpha Psi Omega honorary, and Mr. Clinch is a member of Alpha Psi Omega and Caledonian fraternity.

FIENE HEIGHTS

The young men seem to be active in Fiene Heights these days. On Tuesday, August 21, Marvin Garber, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Garber, celebrated his 12th birthday by inviting five friends to dessert—i.e. birthday cake and ice cream. After dessert the afternoon was spent playing chess which seems to be the favorite game of the group.

Joining in the fun were Mike and Scott Root, David Suggs, Steve Arbanette, and Marvin's brother, Jim.

And Roger Yant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland L. Yant is busy winding up the summer's fun and occupations before he leaves to attend Wentworth Military Academy at Lexington, Mo., this coming year. This will be the first year away at school for Roger who will be in the 10th grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Yant will accompany their son to his school, which will open on Sept. 4.

SOUTH HILLS

Overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Freeman, on August 17, were Mrs. Freeman's sister, Mrs. Robert Casper and her daughters Cindy and Kathy, of Denver, Colo.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Last Thursday, August 16, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Pollock, of Duncan, Okla., were the overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jewett.

And on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Jewett welcomed their daughter, Mrs. Richard Wells, and her children, Sherry and John, who arrived from Columbus to spend a week.

BISHOP HEIGHTS

A trip to the rodeo at Sidney, Iowa, last Saturday, turned into a most exciting occasion for Mrs. James Schrepel, when she met Clint Walker, the guest star of the TV program Cheyenne. Not only did Mrs. Schrepel meet Mr. Walker—but she also had the opportunity of talking with him and his manager for an hour or more on such subjects of common interest as exercise—diet—etc. Mrs. Schrepel, by way, teaches exercise at the YWCA.

PARK MANOR

When Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calsbeek celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary on August 20, about 36 members of the family were present at the dinner at Roberts Park, which marked the occasion.

Out of town guests who attended were Mrs. Calsbeek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerber Van Hul, Sr., of Hull, Iowa; and her brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Van Hul of Kennard, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Van Hul, Hull, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Hul, Rock Valley, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Gerber Van Hul, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Hul, and their families, all of Sioux Falls, S.D. Also present was Mrs. Calsbeek's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Velderdyck, of Hull, Iowa; and her brother-in-law Bernard Van der Green and family of Boyden, Iowa.

SOUTHBROOK

A daughter, Laurie, was born at Bryan Memorial hospital on August 14, to Mr. and Mrs. John Martell. Included in Laurie's family are her two sisters, Beth and Julie, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Norman of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. John Martell of Saginaw, Mich.

Already here to meet her new granddaughter is Mrs. Norman, who arrived last Sunday to spend a couple of weeks with her son-in-law and daughter.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Going to Norfolk to attend the Ludemann family reunion last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. George Lebsack, Jr., their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kaye Spence and daughter; Mrs. Lebsack's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Del Reid; and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hoy and son. Unable to attend was Mr. and Mrs. Lebsack's son Dave.

All-white chrysanthemums appointed the candlelighted chapel of the First Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening, Aug. 21, for the marriage of Miss Phyllis Cast, daughter of Dr. G. O. Cast, and the late Mrs. Cast, to William Harm, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Harm. The ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by Dr. Henry C. Schneider, and Miss Grace Finch, organist, played the wedding music.

Full-skirted frocks of blue organza over matching taffeta were chosen by the attendants, who were Mrs. Fred Rauch of Grand Island, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Scott Cast of Denver. They carried cascades of gold pom-pom chrysanthemums.

LeRoy Butherus served Mr. Harm as best man, and seating the guests were Don Erway and Dick Thompson.

Designed in the shirtwaist mode, the bride's gown was fashioned of white nylon organza over taffeta. Minute tucks edged with Val lace patterned the long sleeves and the front of the bodice, which was completed by a Victorian collar, and the tucked motif continued down the front of the bouffant, street-length skirt. A circlet of silk and pearlized blossoms held her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a white orchid and showered with white sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Harm left for a wedding trip to Hawaii, after which they will make their home at 1711 D. Both are former students at the University of Nebraska where the bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Mortar Board honor society for senior women. Mr. Harm is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Home again are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parrott who have returned from a summer holiday at Shady Lawn Resort, Alexandria, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Parrott were accompanied on their vacation by Mr. and Mrs. L. The Other Side Of The Story

Josephine Lowman

I had a letter from a reader the other day which will jolt some bosses and be balm for some secretaries. Let me say first, though, that I think the secretary who wrote this letter had bad luck. I have a much better opinion of men than she seems to have. However, I have never been a secretary and I am sure there are all kinds of bosses.

The following letter was written to me in reply to a column I wrote suggesting that a secretary who is poised and calm is invaluable in that she inspires confidence and smooths out any office friction.

I also said that she is more capable of being this way, and meeting any crisis, if she feels that she is at her best, and if she is well groomed. Then I gave a few hints for those secretaries who work in offices which are not air-conditioned.

Letter

Here is the letter, in part: "Dear Mrs. Lowman: "Every time I read an article about the attributes of a good secretary I get the hives!"

"These articles suggest that the perfect secretary must be gentle, able to work under pressure, be even-tempered, well groomed, charming, a mind reader, and be able to rise with competence when unexpected crises develop."

(I must interrupt here to say that those qualities are pretty good insurance for success in any job and in life in general.)

"Your article was very idealistic and lovely and clearly written for those who glamorize the office secretary's position as being similar to a well-known movie star's comfortable position on her own T.V. show."

"I have been a secretary for quite a few years in various companies, all reputable, successful businesses, and I have had only one boss who was a gentleman. I have been yelled at and chased. I have mothered one hopeless alcoholic by covering up for him and played nursemaid to one hypochondriac."

"I have given sympathy, encouragement and admiration to these grown-up brats, all without receiving any thanks in return. A private secretary is taken for granted."

"I have noticed that no such personal touch is required of men in their jobs. Their duties are clearly defined."

Q. "Having had a good deal of trouble lately I more or less neglected my figure, with the result that I now find that I am about 10 or 12 pounds overweight. Will exercise help? I am 37 years old. Is that too late to be thinking about improvement?"

A. Too old at 37? You are never too old. Women can improve their appearance though they are YEARS older than 37. If you will make up your mind to do so, you can lose that 10 pounds quickly, and I know it will be a relief to you. Any exercise helps because it burns up calories. However, the main value of using one's own muscles is the way this tones and also distributes weight.

Q. "Will hip and thigh exercises cause broken capillaries in the legs?"

A. No.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Menus for Career Women," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 46 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

Dear Abby

Just A College Boy

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How long does it take for a grown man to forget where he went to college? A friend of mine is almost 50, and two minutes after he meets someone he manages to get into the conversation that he went to Harvard. Now I know lots of men who went to Harvard, but they don't mention it 25 times a day. It so happens I never went to college and my income is easily double that of my Harvard friend — which proves you don't have to go to Harvard to be a success.

What can I say to this Harvard grad to let him know he sounds ridiculous? WOODROW WILSON HIGH, 1933

DEAR W.W. '33: Persuading a 50-year-old man that he "sounds ridiculous" is a hopeless task. It's just another case where the boy got through college but college never got through the boy. Forget it.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle a family fight: I have two sisters. They got into a real battle and are not speaking to each other. I steered clear of the fight and am friendly with both of them. One sister says that if I continue to be friendly with the one SHE isn't speaking to, our friendship will have to come to an end. I don't think this is right. What do you think?

THE SISTER IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR SISTER: It's your sister's privilege to fight with whomever she chooses, but she has no right to force you to non-speaking terms with her enemies.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is the world's dullest man. Whenever we go to a friend's home he goes off by himself and listens to the radio. Or else he just sits and talks to the dog! He never has a thing to say. I try to draw him into the conversation and he answers with a YES or NO. What does a wife do when she is married to a moron like this?

BORED AND EMBARRASSED

DEAR B AND E: Who picked this moron? And why?

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor and I have a complaint. Every week-end two religious fanatics come to our doors and try to preach to us. They have magazines and pamphlets and they want us to stop everything and let them read to us from the Bible. Now we have nothing against these people or their religion, but why do they try to preach to people who have their own religions and are not interested? We've tried telling them in a nice way that we haven't time, but this doesn't seem to discourage them. Then next week another pair comes and we have the same thing all over again. What can we do?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: They are probably sincere people who are dedicated to their religion and want to spread the gospel. If you tell them frankly that you are not interested, you will not be bothered again.

DEAR ABBY: I don't see why that lady kicked up such a fuss because her husband mentioned other women's names in his sleep. I would rather have my husband dreaming ABOUT someone else than dreaming WITH her. NO ILLUSIONS

CONFIDENTIAL TO HIGH POCKETS: The guy who always winds up with the check is not necessarily a "good kid." He is more of a goat.

Coat And Frock Fashions

From left to right: The lady takes an afternoon stroll in a softly tailored melton coat, — buttoned high and off-center — slightly empire in feeling — her hat a furry ball of brown moose with matching brown kid gloves. At her wrist a large bell dangles from a wide band of gold.

The all-occasion dress comes in black wool jersey textured with cognac embroidery.

The fine outline for a new positive cotton knit fashion has a marvelous straight stole attraction. A chic soft lightweight fabric that doesn't lose its close figure-line for a moment...

Mademoiselle Ricci's coat dress is simply elegant when designed by Jules Francois Crahay. The long-sleeved top of leather is self-buttoned and leather-tied at the waist. The full skirt is hair seal. A fisherman's cloche of the hair seal is banded in matching grosgrain. Bottle-green leather and brown hair seal.

The bidding:
Opening lead — king of spades.

Good bidding will occasionally produce a bad result and bad bidding will sometimes produce a good result. Now here's a hand where we won't attempt to classify whether the bidding was good or bad, except to state how and why it took place.

North-South were playing the Stayman convention, a method used to find a major suit fit after one's partner opens the bidding with a no-trump.

Maybe South shouldn't have bid a no-trump with two little diamonds, but he did. North responded two clubs, which is the artificial bid that requests the opener to show a four-card spade or heart suit if he has one.

This was a rather unusual use of the Stayman convention by North because he lacked four-card support for either major, but being worried by the singleton spade, he was reluctant to raise no-trump immediately. At the same time he also decided to play the hand in hearts if his partner happened to respond in that suit.

South had no way of knowing his partner's bid was irregular, and he obediently responded two spades. Reassured as to the spades, North now stretched his values a little and jumped to three no-trump.

This contract would have gone down one if South had passed, but South, bothered by his weakness in diamonds and resting on the assurance his partner would have four hearts — since he obviously did not have four spades — decided to try four hearts. He was willing to play hearts with a 4-3 fit.

North passed, of course, and that became the contract. West made the normal spade lead and South proceeded to take ten tricks despite the 3-3 trump fit.

He won the spade with the ace and ruffed a spade. A club to the ace was followed by another spade ruff, after which a club to the king brought still another spade ruff. The ace of diamonds accounted for trick number seven, and the A-J-10 of trumps were then bound to score three tricks to fulfill the unusual contract.

For Fashion Conscious Men

There's a switch in the system in men's sportcoats for fall. The man in your life may select a sturdy but stately American wool fabric in a herringbone stripe for the dashing new look—careful casual tailoring geared for city and country wear. Shorter in length, the jacket features slim natural shoulder lines accented with smartly fashioned buttoned flapped pockets and welt seaming. Designed in dark dependable colors, the jacket coordinates perfectly with dark of light American wool slacks.

The gay blade dare not pass a check this season... it's like money in the bank. Modern or traditional tastes will favor the dashing good looks of the small-sized checked American worsted sportcoat. Tastefully tailored with cut-away styling, flapped shashed pockets and long, lean lapels, it is a smart jacket that is perfect for day-long, fall-through-winter schedules.

Male footwear goes into full color this fall, and after the first shock the men like it.

"Tycoons and sportsmen alike will be wearing colored patent leather shoes for casual and leisure occasions this year," says a man who knows all about men and their shoes. "Colored patent shoes are making as much of a furor on the men's fashion front as did colored slacks a few years ago," the man says. Both seemed daring at first, but soon became standard equipment for country and resort wear.

The male version of red patent shoes is strictly masculine, done in a husky oxford in a deep cherry red that looks almost like cordovan, in a handsome new patent that never cracks and has the appearance of highly polished calf. Greatest boon, as discovered by men who have worn them, is that patent leather sports shoes never need polishing. Just wipe them off with a damp cloth and they're shined and ready to go.

The new patents come in all colors, from the deep red to creamy beige, caramel, navy, gray and white. The same range of colors is available also in imported unborn calf, a soft, velvety leather with a suede finish.

Money Not Enough

Dr. William (Bullet Bill) Osmanski offered an interesting aspect of professional football during his visit here last week.

Strangely, some might think, pro gridders do not play for pay, according to Osmanski.

"I'm frequently asked if players in the National Football League are motivated solely by money," Bill said. "My answer is always the same—if money is his reason for playing, he won't last long."

Osmanski's analysis of the situation comes from long experience, which included numerous broken bones and other injuries, and makes good sense.

"Of course, pro players are interested in their salaries," he said. "But they're not playing for money alone. You have to love football, love blocking and tackling—really enjoy rugged body contact."

"Every summer lots of boys who come to pro camps simply because of money are soon on their way home. The boys who stay are the ones who love to play football."

Ditka Has Desire

Osmanski named Mike Ditka, the former Pittsburgh All American who made All-Pro and gained Rookie of the Year honors with the Chicago Bears last fall as a NFL freshman.

"Ditka is a great player," Bill said. "He has a fierce desire to play football and that's why he's great—not because of a paycheck."

"In one game last year, Mike wasn't playing because of a knee injury. His knee was puffed up like a big balloon. All through the game, he kept pleading with the doctors and trainers to 'Give me a shot, so I can get in there.'"

"The Bears very wisely didn't yield to his pleas—which could have meant permanent injury and wrecked his career. But this demonstrates his attitude, utter disregard for pain and injury because he wanted to play."

"That's the type of dedication it takes to become a professional football player," Bill concluded.

Same In College

College coaches—even high school and mid-level coaches, too—will tell you they're looking for the same type of dedication.

In this era of high-pressure recruiting there are hundreds of football players—every school has some—who regard football as a means of getting a diploma, via the grant-in-aid.

But you never hear about 'em because they're not good enough to play much. Like the pros, the collegiate football player who makes a name for himself is the chap who loves his work.

Don't Push

Along the same line, parents of young boys will be doing their kids a favor if they don't push them into football as a favor to Dad.

Football is fun for the boy who likes it, but it can be a miserable experience for the boy who goes out because of parental pressure, attempting to keep up with a buddy or a feeling that it's something he should be doing.

And the boy who is not playing because he likes the game is giving a half-hearted effort, which can lead to injury.

Like Bill Osmanski says, football just isn't a game for boys who don't enjoy it.

VON ERICH, JONATHAN IN TEXAS MATCH DRAW

If Fritz von Erich has a sore "claw" paw today, he can thank Don Leo Jonathan.

While he's about it, he can thank himself for not registering a victory in a wild Texas Death Match at Pershing Auditorium Tuesday night.

The 13-fall main event of Promoter Jack Pesek's pro grapple wound up in a draw because Fritz failed to climb back into the ring before a 10-count—while Jonathan was stretched out on the canvas.

After the champion took fall No. 11 with his famed claw, Don Leo barely made it up for the 12th and he walked into another claw. But he battled back to his feet and broke the hold.

Then the 315-pounder from Utah commenced to beat Erich's claw hand on the corner tighteners and stamp on it with his feet. Getting him on the ropes, Jonathan tugged and both fell backwards, with the skulled Don Leo getting counted out.

Von Erich rolled out of the ring, then staggered and paced during the one-minute rest. When the bell rang, Referee Tom Novak tolled 10 over Jonathan—at the same time over Fritz outside the ring. If the champ had climbed in he could have won, but it went as a draw.

A horde of fans—from the whooping crowd of 2,883—poured into the ring to hoist Jonathan to his feet and lift his arms amid roaring cheers.

In the semifinal match, Thor Hagen took the measure of crafty Jap, Taro Miyaki, and Crusher Kowalski took a one-fall decision over Roy Collins in the special event.

Sonny Myers and Lee Henning grappled to a draw in the opener.

Pesek announced that the next Pershing show would be a special State Fair card on Sept. 4.

29 Marks Beaten At Muny Pool In Journal-Star Meet

... EIGHT YOUNGSTERS TAKE HOME TRIPLE WINS

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

There is little doubt that the swimming meet at Muny Pool Tuesday night was a championship affair.

The annual city championships, sponsored for the 32nd year by the Sunday Journal and Star, was perhaps the greatest in history.

A fantastic 29 records were broken and two more tied. There were just 49 events.

The record smashing doubled the number of marks which fell last year.

It was a perfect evening for swimming—and the kids really took to the water.

An individual standout was hard to determine what with 8 youngsters rating triple wins.

Perhaps the star of the water-logged cast was Steve Coy, who'll be a junior at Southeast this fall.

The talented Swim Clubber was among the triple win elite, setting two records and placing his name on the Clifton Lambert Memorial Trophy.

That honor resulted from his win in the men's 200-yard freestyle. It is an annual award.

The parade of stars (3 victories) went from the wee ranks of 10-year-olds Dee Schmidt and Mark Bryan to Dave Frank, who'll enter NU this fall.

Young Miss Schmidt and Frank each set 3 records while racking up their triumphs. Other 3-time record breakers were Debbie Magee, 11-12 year old girls; and flashy Stan Ewing, a real prospect who toiled in the 11-12 boys group.

Janet West (15-16) and Pat Murray (senior girls) also won thrice but they had no opposition.

The boys 15-16 bracket was the most outstanding age group. Coy's performances highlighted as all but one of the 5 event records were beaten. Backstroke-1, Steve Goetz topped marks.

All winners are members of the Lincoln Swim Club which has two more competitive meets to wind up a busy summer program.

The top Lincoln swimmers will be in Omaha this weekend for a Meet of Champions affair. This meet will draw the top talent in the Midwest.

Slam In Tenth Tips Off Rally

Los Angeles (AP)—The New York Yankees erupted for 7 runs in a wild 10th inning Tuesday night and beat Los Angeles in their series opener, 11-4 before 50,830. The highlight of the inning was Roger Maris' grand slam home run.

The defeat dropped the second-place Angels 5 games behind the Yankees.

Reliever Jack Spring was the victim of Maris' grand slam homer, the 5th of Maris' career. The ball sailed 390 feet into the right center field seats.

The most prodigious homer of the night, however, was delivered by Yankee catcher Elston Howard in the 6th inning. The ball soared over the center field fence 425 feet from home plate.

New York got only 5 hits off southpaw starter Bo Belinsky, who had a one-hitter going until Howard smashed his homer between the two flag poles in center.

Mickey Mantle had drawn a walk before him.

Lee Thomas, Los Angeles first baseman, smashed his 18th and 19th home runs and became the first player in either major league to hit two homers in a game on two occasions at Chavez Ravine. He hit two May 26 at Kansas City and two more June 12 here against Minnesota.

Howard's homer was his 15th of the season. He became the first American Leaguer to clear the Dodger stadium's center field wall.

Boy! These Guys Really Hit Golf

Balls A Long Way

Hanover, N.J. — Golfers complained "we were robbed" when scores suddenly soared on the 8th hole at Valley View Country Club. They were right.

Young boys, hiding in the woods, waited for the golf balls to come floating over a hill leading to the "blind" green. The boys would scoop up the balls, then scoot back to their hiding places. For the golfers: penalty for lost balls.

TIGERS BANG OUT 10-1 TRIUMPH OVER TRIBE

Detroit (AP) — Jim Bunning recorded his 100th major league victory with a 4-hitter Tuesday night and the Detroit Tigers banged out 14 hits in a 10-1 triumph over the hapless Cleveland Indians.

Dick McAuliffe paced the Tiger assault with 4 singles and 3 runs batted in. McAuliffe started the Tigers off with a two-run single in the 4-run first. He had a run-producing single in Detroit's 3-run 6th.

The only damaging blow off Bunning, who recorded his 13th win this season, was Al Luplow's home run in the first inning.

Steve Boros cracked a two-run homer as Detroit opened its lead to 7-1 in the 5th.

Loser Jim Perry lasted only 4 innings as the Indians were beaten for the 32nd time in their last 44 games.

Bunning struck out 4 as he became the 5th active American League pitcher with as many as 100 major league victories.

Mets Top Bucs End Loss String

New York (AP)—Marvelous Marv Throneberry came out of the first base coaching box with two out in the 9th inning Monday night and blasted a 3-run home run to enable the New York Mets to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, in the second game of a double-header and snap their latest losing streak at 13 games.

The Mets had contrived to lose the opener, 8-6, after they led by two runs going into the 9th. Roger Craig, who pitched just a 3rd of an inning in relief, was charged with his 20th defeat of the season—the first New York pitcher to pile up so many defeats in 37 years.

Throneberry had been inserted in the first base coaching box after a game of musical chairs by manager Casey Stengel. All told, the Mets employed 4 first base coaches during the game.

Phillies Continue Mastery Over Colts With Two Wins

Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Houston Colts for the 14th and 15th times without a loss in a two-night doubleheader 5-3 and 7-4 Tuesday night.

Although outthit, the Phillies took the opener as Art Mahaffey won his 17th game of the season against 10 losses and pitched his 18th complete game, most in the National League. Rookie righthander Jack Hamilton, who also went the route recorded his 7th victory in 18 decisions in the nightcap.

A three-run first inning, featuring one hit, was the big frame in the opener.

The Colts narrowed the Phillies' lead to 3-2 in the third on a walk, Carl Warwick's double and Johnny Temple's bunt single, and scored in the 5th on a walk and singles by Bruce and Warwick.

Red Sox Stop K. C. For 11-6 Win

Kansas City (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski batted in 5 runs for Boston Tuesday night with a home run, double and single as the Red Sox bested the Kansas City Athletics 11-6.

Norm Siebern hit a pair of two-run homers off Earl Wilson, Boston's tall righthander, who got credit for his 11th victory as compared with 5 defeats. The two circuit blows were Siebern's 18th and 19th and brought his league-leading runs batted in total to 95. The second home run came in the 9th inning with Jerry Lumpe on base and sent Wilson to the showers. Arnold Earley got the final two outs.

Wilson had battled his own wildness from the first inning when Siebern hit his first home run after Ed Charles had been nicked with a pitch. He gave up 3 bases on balls in the 8th inning when Kansas City scored twice with the help of a single by Wayne Causey.

Yastrzemski singled home Gary Geiger, who had doubled for another Boston run in the second, and his home run scored Geiger and Chuck Schilling in the 4th inning, and ended Fischer's work for the night.

Piersall Ousted Early In 5-2 Loss To Twins

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Reliever Ray Moore came out of the bullpen to put down an 8th inning Washington rally and preserve a 5-2 Minnesota victory over the Senators Tuesday night.

Starter Jack Kralick was working on a two-hitter when the Nats chased him in the 8th with a two-run uprising on an error, walk and two singles. Moore ended it by striking out pinchhitter Jim King.

The Twins tallied twice in the 5th on Lenny Green's two-run single after one-base hits by Bernie Allen and Zolo Versalles and Kralick's sacrifice.

Two more Minnesota runs came across in the 6th on Allen's single and Versalles' sacrifice fly. The Twins added a 5th run in the 7th as Bob Allison grounded into a force out with the bases loaded.

Rookie Don Lock singled home the Senator's two runs. Kralick got the win and is 9-8, while starter Dave Stenhouse (10-9) lost.

Joe Hicks, who got two of Washington's 4 hits, was an early replacement for volatile Jimmy Piersall, who was ejected from the game after taking the first pitch of the tilt for a called strike. Piersall got the thumb after a protest to plate umpire Al Satero on the call.

Piersall Ousted Early In 5-2 Loss To Twins

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Reliever Ray Moore came out of the bullpen to put down an 8th inning Washington rally and preserve a 5-2 Minnesota victory over the Senators Tuesday night.

Starter Jack Kralick was working on a two-hitter when the Nats chased him in the 8th with a two-run uprising on an error, walk and two singles. Moore ended it by striking out pinchhitter Jim King.

The Twins tallied twice in the 5th on Lenny Green's two-run single after one-base hits by Bernie Allen and Zolo Versalles and Kralick's sacrifice.

Two more Minnesota runs came across in the 6th on Allen's single and Versalles' sacrifice fly. The Twins added a 5th run in the 7th as Bob Allison grounded into a force out with the bases loaded.

Rookie Don Lock singled home the Senator's two runs. Kralick got the win and is 9-8, while starter Dave Stenhouse (10-9) lost.

Joe Hicks, who got two of Washington's 4 hits, was an early replacement for volatile Jimmy Piersall, who was ejected from the game after taking the first pitch of the tilt for a called strike. Piersall got the thumb after a protest to plate umpire Al Satero on the call.

Gavins Point Still Angler's Choice Area

Gavins Point is still Nebraska's catfishing hotspot, according to reports received from the game commission's conservation officers.

Channel catfish from two to 3 pounds are being caught by drifting anglers below the dam.

In the western part of the state, fishing is slow, but two exceptions are Lake Minatare and Smith Lake.

Minatare is having good runs on perch, while bluegills are hitting in the evening at Smith Lake.

O'Donald Lake in Holt County produced good size northern pike for the angler's creel. In the Republican valley, reservoir fishing is slow for the most part. Harlan is yielding channel catfish and a few white bass as is Johnson Lake near Lexington.

Other southeastern rivers and streams are mostly muddy from irrigation activities, reports indicated.

DOUG SANDERS INTO TOP 10 PGA WINNERS

Duendin, Fla. (AP) — Doug Sanders, winner of the St. Paul Open, was a newcomer to the Professional Golfing Association's list of top 10 money-winners.

The $4,300 Sanders won at St. Paul gave him a total for the season of $30,167, good enough for 9th place on the list.

Top money-winner Arnold Palmer and runnerup Gene Littler did not improve their standings this week. Palmer is way out front with a record total of $80,198. Littler, in second place, has winnings of $61,170.

The only golfers on the list last week who materially improved their wealth were Gary Player and Phil Rodgers. Player tied for 3rd at St. Paul and the $1,850 payoff raised him to $44,338 for the year. Rodgers, who received $1,450 for a 4th-place tie, now has winnings of $30,841.

Waivers Asked

San Francisco (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League put two players on waivers Tuesday. They were Tony Parrilli of Illinois, a linebacker, and Joe Kominski of Central Washington College, a defensive end.

Schoendienst Unruffled By Long Road Travel

New York, (UPI) — There's plenty of grouching among the players about the current 162-game schedule in effect in both major leagues and the cockeyed travel required to make playing dates on time.

But, says Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, the old days weren't much better.

"Remember those trains? Some guys never could get used to sleeping on them. At least now you're flying you can get some sleep in a regular bed."

"We pulled into New York the other morning at 7 after a night game in Houston and went right to bed. We had a night game scheduled that night so there was plenty of time for a good rest."

Others Unhappy

Most players, however, don't share Red's view of the hodge-podge travel that turns day into night.

The Yankees, for instance, have a nifty one coming up later this month. After a game at Los Angeles, they head for Baltimore and will arrive at 6 a.m. They face a two-night doubleheader that night and a doubleheader the following day as well.

The New York Mets have had several such, as have most of the other clubs.

Some critics of the 162-game schedule, as opposed to the 154-game chart in effect when both leagues had only 8 clubs, insist the extra duty, extra travel, night games, two-nighters and make-up doubleheaders are putting too much of a physical strain on all the athletes.

Daylight Sleep

Just as certain players couldn't sleep on trains, so there must be plenty who have trouble sleeping in daylight after an all-night plane ride.

Club owners indicate they're not about to slash their schedule to 153 games, a workable deal with 10 clubs providing a few days off to catch up on rest.

You can't blame the owners entirely for wanting to keep the extra games on the schedule, expenses being what they are, but if it is going to reduce the effectiveness of the players—and perhaps shorten their careers—it doesn't make much sense.

It's a fight that's only beginning.

Eagles Release Pair Of Rookies

Hershey, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League released two rookie players by waiver Tuesday. They are Harold Ericksen, a linebacker from Georgia Tech, and Dick Stafford, an offensive tackle from Texas Tech.

This reduced the squad to 46, all of whom are expected to travel to Charlotte, N.C., for Saturday night's exhibition game with the Washington Redskins.

Nats Sign Neumann

Syracuse, N.Y. (AP) — Paul Neumann, a rookie last year with the Syracuse Nationals, has signed for a second season with the Nats, the National Basketball Association club said Tuesday. He is a graduate of Stanford University.

Labor Dispute Flares Again; Ironworkers Local Pickets

A year-old labor dispute flared again Tuesday when Local 21 of the Ironworkers Union began picketing a construction site at 13th and J.

Electricians, plumbers and carpenters refused to cross the picket line. Only 9 men were working on the Sky Park Manor apartment building Tuesday afternoon.

John H. Miller of Olson Construction Co., general contractor for the building, said, "that's only natural. They'll get impatient and go back to work. That's what happened last year."

Union Refuses
The dispute between the ironworkers and 5 Lincoln contractors began in August, 1961. The contractors demanded a separate contract for union workers in the Lincoln area. The union, whose area covers most of Nebraska except the Panhandle, refused and struck against the 5 firms that form the Associated General Contractors (AGC).

THE DISPUTE HAS NEVER BEEN SETTLED

The dispute has never been settled. The AGC firms hired men without regard for union affiliation, and as work went on the union withdrew its picket lines.

"This is a continuation of the same strike," said a spokesman for the ironworkers. "There are about 70 of us living in Lincoln, and we haven't worked for an AGC firm since the strike started a year ago."

CARPENTERS WORK

The union man said that iron work has been done by carpenters during the last year.

Miller denied this. "No carpenters have been laying iron," he said. "We have used non-union ironworkers."

The ironworkers' spokesman said, "If members of other unions cross our picket line, they will have cause to remember it when their own contracts expire."

Miller said there are no picket lines at his company's other construction sites.

He also branded as false a report that his company had recently discussed the situation with the union. "There has been no discussion at all," he said.

The 4 other companies with which the ironworkers union has no contract are George Cook, Kingery, M. W. Anderson, and Westcott-Bowen.

Lincoln Father Of 2 Gets Medical School Grant

A determined 31-year-old Lincoln resident and a father of two will enter formal training at Loma Linda University School of Medicine in Los Angeles, Calif., this fall, thanks in part to a $2,000 health education scholarship grant from the March of Dimes.

The announcement was made by Harold J. Osborn, chairman of the Lancaster County Chapter of the National Foundation.

And the scholarship didn't come easily—it had to be won over a field of numerous other applicants who had filed for the same consideration.

But then Charles A. Russell of 4030 So. 40th has never expected things to come easy when it comes to getting a medical education. The important thing is that he does definitely intend to accomplish this goal regardless of any and all obstacles.

He started toward a medical education some 10 years ago, but the responsibilities of a young family have a way of absorbing one's earnings as well as his time, and after only one and one-half years of college work, he had to drop out. For the next 8 years he drove a Caterpillar tractor and filled various other assignments in the construction labor field and then again returned to pre-medical training at Union College where he completed his work this past spring.

His wife, Marjorie, who also works outside of the home to help her husband realize his ambitions, and his two sons, Charles, 9, and Donald, 6, are looking forward with optimism to the days and years ahead.

"The shortage of trained personnel in health fields becomes more alarming every day," Osborn said. "We must encourage our young people to fill these vacancies."

The national March of Dimes organization awards scholarships in medicine, medical social work, nursing, physical therapy, and occupational therapy.

Since 1959, scholarships awarded have totaled approximately 1,300 exclusive of the appointments being made this year, Osborn said.

Particles Slowed Carpenter

Houston (P)—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter reviewed Tuesday the final harried and thrilling moments of his May 24 space trip and said time just slipped away and he had to rush to his return to earth.

"I think one reason I got behind at retrofire (the slow-down to return to earth) was because, just at dawn during the third orbit, I discovered the source of the space particles," Carpenter said.

His words came from the "Blue Book," the final technical report of his flight 3 times around the earth. It was released to engineers and scientists attending Tuesday's National Aeronautics and Space Administration conference, the first ever held at this new and growing base of the U.S. manned space flight program.

Carpenter's oral report of his experiences highlighted the program of seven technical papers.

In the Blue Book, Carpenter told of an inadvertent blow his hand delivered to the spacecraft and the resulting cloud of luminous particles he saw through the window.

Since this indicated the mysterious particles—perhaps the ones astronaut John Glenn called fireflies on his first orbital flight—came from the spacecraft itself, Carpenter was highly interested and proceeded to repeat the experience.

"I felt I had time to get that taken care of and still prepare properly for retrofire," he wrote, "but time slipped away."

During his oral report, Carpenter had this to say about his accidental discovery of the particles:

"I think if this had not happened when it did, the retrofire would have gone smoother."

Health Chiefs Push Mercy Hunt For 5

New York (P)—Health authorities pressed a mercy hunt Tuesday for 5 persons who were the most immediately exposed to a teen-aged Canadian boy who arrived in this country with smallpox.

The youth, James Orr, 4, arrived at Idlewild Airport Aug. 11 after a flight from Brazil with his missionary parents. The party then traveled by train to Toronto where the boy was hospitalized with an ailment later diagnosed as smallpox.

The 5 targets of the authorities, none known by name, were listed by a Public Health Service spokesman in Washington as:

A porter who handled the baggage of the Orr party from the customs center at Idlewild to a taxi at the airport.

The cab driver who drove the Orr family to Grand Central Terminal from the airport. Police said he may have overcharged the family and therefore be reluctant to come forward. But they urged him to "forget any possible violation of the cab rules . . ."

A second porter who handled the Orr's luggage at Grand Central.

A woman at Grand Central who noted that the Orr boy was ill and tried to help him.

A woman at Grand Central who noted that the Orr boy was ill and tried to help him.

A Negro woman who shared a seat with young Orr during the final 15 or 20 minutes of his train ride from New York to Toronto.

Officials urged all of these persons to come forward and undergo vaccination, lest they come down with the disease themselves or spread it to others.

More than 3,000 New Yorkers already have undergone smallpox vaccinations because their paths crossed that of the Orr boy during his stopover here.

Stocks Decline Led By Steels

New York — Steels paced a stock market downturn Tuesday following news that Republic Steel had cut its dividend to 50 cents from 75 cents. Trading was moderately active.

The list was mixed with a tendency toward the upside in some indicators when the steels retreated following the Republic dividend news. A reduction in the payout had been anticipated but the market—with 5 advances out of the previous 6 sessions—was vulnerable to profit-taking.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.22 to 408.44.

Martin-Marietta, still responding to news that it was named prime contractor for the Titan III project, pared its bid on volume for the fourth straight session. It was one of the 4 gainers among the 15 most active stocks, of which 4 declined and 3 were unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .4 to 22.7 with utilities down 1.6, rails up .5, and utilities up .4.

On 1,233 issues traded, 395 advanced and 76 declined. New highs for the day totaled 4, and new lows 6.

Volume slipped to 7.3 million shares from 4.5 million Monday.

Superior Nursing Home Plans Move Ahead

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Superior—With a good start and good ending, a bad between isn't so important.
Thus, the promising outlook for a nursing home here has the town smiling almost as wide as it was 10 months ago. Especially Paul Schmeling, veteran banker who has devoted hours uncouncted as president of South Central Senior Citizens, Inc.

Bids will be received Aug. 23 for the 50-bed facility to be operated by Good Samaritan Society. Such news would have been pleasing enough months ago, but is doubly so after a trying period that had followed such a wonderful beginning.

"We had agreed to raise $50,000 toward the home last October, but in two weeks we had practically $80,000," recalled the South Central president. "We were off to a great start, but then came the problems."

The problems, interjected corporation secretary Vernon McBroom, included some anticipated delays and a few that were not. A change in site slowed things considerably, and minor alterations were made in design.

The death of the Good Samaritan director who had handled preliminary plans, Herman Schmidt of Beatrice, forced the two groups to retrace numerous details. Finally, the first bids were rejected by Good Samaritan as too high.

"Some minor changes have been made to reduce the cost, though, and we believe we're all set," enthused Schmeling. "We hope to have construction under way this fall."

The one-story structure is planned for the east side of Highway 8-14 at Superior's north edge. Its completion will mark the end of a project started by a Chamber of Commerce committee in 1960.

Architect Robert Gibb of Lincoln estimates the building's cost at $175,000. Bids will be received in his office,

Scottsbluff Attorney Says Seaton Is 'Unworthy' As GOP Candidate

Scottsbluff—Andrew Parkansky Tuesday charged Republican gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton as being "unworthy to carry the banner of our party in Nebraska."

Parkansky is a Scottsbluff attorney, was an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination as 4th District Congressman in 1958, and served on the Callan Committee, investigating the State Purchasing Department last year.

In a letter to State GOP Chairman Robert Denney, Parkansky said that Seaton's record "is enough to make a flaming liberal blush."

Gives Reasons.

Parkansky listed his reasons for opposing Seaton as: "Seaton bolted the party and opposed Kenneth Wherry as the Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate in 1946. "Seaton violated what the State Supreme Court held to be the 'moral obligation' of the preferential primary and opposed Sen. Robert Taft's nomination for President in 1952, despite the fact that Sen. Taft had won the Nebraska primary," Parkansky said.

He also said Seaton had an "overwhelmingly left-wing voting record" when he served in the U.S. Senate, and had earned an 88% Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) rating on major issues ADA believed to be key ones in liberal policies. Parkansky also charged Seaton "condemned" the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education in a speech at Kearney last March, but that about two months later he "met secretly in Omaha with AFL-CIO officials making promises" to get labor's endorsement.

"As secretary of interior, Seaton sponsored the regional power preference concept for the Pacific Northwest, generally opposed by Republicans, and which Seaton now says is 'harmful' to Nebraska."

"He was a full working partner in June in the formation in Gettysburg of the liberal splinter of the Republican Party—Republican Citizens Committee—which has been properly condemned by Sen. (Carl) Curtis, Sen. (Barry) Goldwater and GOP State Chairman Robert Denney."

Seaton had "no comment" when queried on the Parkansky charges.
